WHAT WE DO

Allowing thousands of Missouri employers to pinpoint Missouri job-seekers as their next top performers, Talify Missouri transforms the way that employers and talent are matched with one another. A free service of the Division of Workforce Development, Talify Missouri begins by asking you to provide brief demographic information—interests, experience, education, and geographic preference—and continues by capturing your behavioral strengths through sophisticated online assessments built upon 50 years of research and development.

We then provide you with feedback as to roles in which you are most likely to excel, coaching toward your strengths, opportunities for improvement, and unique tools to interview more effectively. These reports are further used to focus the services you may receive from Missouri Job Centers state-wide.

The information we bring together is made available to qualified Missouri employers—allowing them to match their specific needs to current Missouri job-seekers. Talify Missouri is free to employers and job-seekers, and provides outstanding opportunities to those seeking work.
